LOTS OF BEAUTIFUL, GLOSSY HAIR,
NO DANDRUFF, 25 CENT "DANDERINE"

Hair Coming Out?—If Dry, Brittle, Thin or Your Scalp Itches and is Full of Dandruff—Use "Danderine"

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of Dandruff or a loose or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you will actually see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine will immediately double the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable lustre, softness and luxuriance, the beauty and shimmer of true hair health.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store, or toilet counter, and prove to yourself tonight—now—that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that all you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it. If you will just try a little Danderine.

RUBBER AND SUGAR
INDUSTRIES OF MEXICO

There seems to be some attraction in the rubber industry to foreign capital which other, and perhaps more stable, lines fail to exert; yet no investment should be more carefully investigated and considered, from every possible standpoint.

Wild castillon is common throughout nearly all of southern Mexico and appears in places on the west coast. Many planters find the rubber tree a profitable side line grown in connection with other crops, and especially as shade for the cacao tree. The guayule shrub or plant (Parthenium argentatum) is becoming an important factor in rubber production on the high arid lands of Mexico. It has long been a familiar fact that this plant contained rubber, but only as recently as 1900 was a process discovered whereby it was made a commercial possibility. Guayule is said to have three distinct advantages over other rubber plants in that it grows on an almost sterile soil in a healthy subtropical climate; it can be gathered all the year, and it can be treated cheaply. Exports of guayule in the fiscal year 1910-11 approximated nearly $6,000,000 in value.

The production of sugar cane and manufacture of sugar is one of Mexico's oldest industries, dating back to the earliest colonial period. There are over 2,000 sugar factories in the Republic, but only a small percentage of these are of importance from a commercial standpoint. The greater part of the larger estates are situated in the State of Morelos.

The total production of sugar in 1910-11 is reported as 161,603 metric tons, an increase of 13,698 metric tons over the previous year's production. The total amount of molasses produced is stated to be 83,954 tons, an increase of 5,300 tons over the amount produced in the preceding year. With the introduction of modern methods of cultivation and well-equipped factories the sugar industry in this Republic is rapidly growing in importance.—Consul General Arnold Shanklin, Mexico City.

"Pa, what's an inscrutable smile?" It's the kind, my son, your mother had on her face this morning when I told her business might keep me out late tonight."

A train carrying Canadian soldiers from a sham battle at Toronto collided with the Canadian Pacific Chicago Express. Two privates were killed and 36 persons injured.
